Call to order 2:03pm
1. Approve October minutes
   a. Minutes Approved
2. Matters arising
   a. None arising
3. Implementation of “Compensation Modernization Project” and staff salaries benchmarking (Mark Burdsall, Office of Human Resources)
   a. Gave current system of pay vs the new system overview
      i. Need to update to better compare jobs despite nuances.
      ii. Next step is to implement the Compensation Modernization plan. Education needed (currently being developed) for individuals to use system.
      iii. Pay policies and ranges for new system are currently making its way through the university governing systems. Once approved, it will be an immediate implementation phase switch to do the job slotting.
   b. Questions from the Committee:
      i. Where are we in the timeline comparatively to spring discussion?
         1. Answer: lots of work behind scenes, not delayed but the work wasn’t done for the fall. Need to make sure slotting is appropriate and market matches need to be done as well. Business as usual has to continue on top of getting this ready. The university hires about 40 staff a week that need to be slotted in the old system. Senior leaders are not holding this up, we are at the point of getting approval, but it did take a bit more time to get here because of business as usual as well as set up on the side. Behind the scenes work takes a bit of time.
         2. Shared governance takes time. After finishing up talks with senior leadership, need to socialize the idea thoroughly so people are on board with it. Implementation date is last.
         3. Soon, but not immediate. Likely 2022. This is a well-received project. Just need to push it across the finish line.
      ii. Will there be additional slotting for assistants? With the career ladder, how will salary cap affect internal transfers?
         1. General admin support is a lot of different things. Office management will become a leveled career. Should be cleaner going forward.
         2. In 1999, job families were developed with the grading system. Put them out online in 1999 for clarity. Parameters were established that would generally be acceptable for a pay decision being that nothing existed before. Parameters were worded as guideline saying “up to” x%. This was never considered a policy. Pay decisions are ultimately held by departments.
3. Pay equity is hard to deal with in general. You can pay people differently within the same job description. Equity analysis is based on job, experience, education, etc. HR doesn’t pick pay. Equity is institution wide. Lose federal funding if we violate rules. Private companies get censured where we potentially lose the funding.

iii. How will Pitt compete with similar universities paying higher wages?
   1. While it is ultimately up to the university to decide pay, compensation modernization uses the market to make decisions and help fix this.

iv. Had a great, superstar, talented person that couldn’t give raise beyond the 5% mark. Why wait 3-4 years to be compensated appropriately? Person received a 34% increase due to equity analysis. What about people who don’t have someone pushing for their compensation? May be a guideline, but it is really a cap de facto.
   1. There is anticipation that when the new system is implemented with job specificity, the university will be able to run reports on equity.

v. We hear ‘soon’, but what does that actually mean? When do we actually think this will be cemented?
   1. No date. With senior leadership. “Closer than you think it is” but no date to pin ourselves on yet. Once approval is made, slotting the job is next and this could take a long time.

4. New budget model/policy restructuring; revisions to PBS
   a. Steve presenting on what was recently approved. Hopefully looking to look forward on shared governance side to make this transparent, accountable, and inclusive.
   b. New model approved by Steering Committee, not trying to reinvent the wheel but change as needed.
   c. Proposals: University wide PBC: create some structure where one person can meet with other schools and with senates across the board as part of PBCs. Communication as the way to help raise the floor on how PBCs are working. Ensure some training for how to complete rights and responsibilities.
      i. Proposal to have students and staff included in some way to PBCs.
      ii. Tabled.
      iii. Steve cannot commit at this time because of the Union vote, and how that might change what we can and cannot do.

5. Meeting adjourned at 4:04pm
